OH, DEAR! MY BACK!

Merciful Heaven, how my back hurts in the morning! It's all due to an over-abundance of that poison called uric acid. The kidneys are not able to get rid of
it. Each condition
you can readily overcome, and prolong life by taking
"Auric" (anti-uric-acid). This can be obtained at almost any drug store, in tablet form.

When your kidneys get sluggish and clog, you suffer from backache, sick-headache, dizzy spells, or twinges and pains of lumbago, rheumatism, or gout; or sleep is disturbed two or three times a night, get Dr. Pierce's Auric, it will put new life into your kidneys and your entire system. Send Dr.
Pierce's "Invaluable" Book, Buffalo,
N. Y., ten cents for trial package.

PITTSBURGH, PA.—Just a few lines to let others know what benefit I received from Dr. Pierce's Auric Tablets. I had an excess of uric acid during my childhood. I got very red and sore all over my body, but when I had taken one bottle of the Auric Tablets I was again able to get around, and I got along fine. I gladly recommend these tablets for I think they saved my life. Thanks to Dr. Pierce.

IF HAIR IS TURNING GRAY, USE SAGE TEA

Here's Grandmother's Recipe to Darken and Beautify Faded Hair.

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application of two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.—Adv.

Why Have Ugly, Itching Pimples?

Simple Treatment Clears Skin Quickly of All Unightly Eruptions.

For several weeks past A. A. Clarke has done a big business and made lots of friends simply by recommending and selling Hekara—skin healer that has miraculously aided many Connellsville people in restoring to them a clear natural healthy skin.

Hekara by its antiseptic healing qualities has been found to correct quickly all minor skin troubles such as pimples, blackheads, herpes, acne, eczema, itching, hemorrhoids, itching feet and piles. Ulcers, sores, salt rheum, and even chronic eczema respond readily. There has yet to be found any form of skin disease that Hekara does not greatly help, and its action is so quick, pleasant and healing that those who have used it are delighted with it. In spite of its unusual healing powers, the price is a trifle. To convince you of its merit A. A. Clarke, druggist, will sell you a liberal sized jar for only 35c. If it doesn't do what it is claimed to do—you can get your money back.—Adv.

A Drop On a Touchy Corn

Instant relief! Then corn or callus lifts off with fingers.

Did you think! You can lift off any corn or callus without one twinge of pain. A Connellsville man discovered the other compound and used it freely. Any druggist will sell a tiny bottle of freezone for 25c. You apply a few drops directly upon a tender corn or callus. Instantly the burning, itching, smarting then shortly you will feel the corn or callus so loose that you can lift it off. It is wonderful! It does not hurt the corn or callus, but shrivels it up without even irritating the skin. Soft corns, soft corns, or corns between the toes, as all so painful calluses, lift right off. There is no pain before or afterwards. Neatness or smarting. When should keep a tiny bottle on the dresser and not let a corn ache you.

DOUBLE HEADER A BIG ATTRACTION TOMORROW

B. & O. Teams Play Off at 5 O'clock; Greensburg Opposes Independents.

TROTTER WINS ANOTHER

When the Greensburg soldiers of Company 1, Tenth Regiment, come marching on to Fayette field tomorrow afternoon to do battle with the independent braves in a baseball game, smoke instead of shell will be in order. The little company of nine men under the generalship of Tommy Trotter, depend on smoke to win their battles. Smoke in baseball parlance means speed and the visitors have an abundance of that.

The lineup of the visitors includes the pick of the former Edwards team now back of its playing ability. Sisley a third is considered the best of his class in the Greensburg district. Trotter, a former Railroad league left fielder, is well known locally. Mack is short in the best in the West. Trotter is a county. Bugher in middle. Watt, the leading catcher of the city league. Ditt covers second. Neider is first a speedy boy. Agor in right. A sure factor and either Macwell or Fall in the box.

The Greensburg team has been traveling along at a speed clip in the Greensburg city league and Johnny Fall, who induced the management of the locals to book the team states that they will put up a brand of ball seldom seen hereabouts. As strong as they may be, the independents will have a team on the field which will be head off. Herrod, the slender hurler from Pittsburgh, will draw mound duty for the home brigade, with Tommy Jones receiving. The new star, "Buck" Williams on first. Ernie Fisher at second. Gene Frazier, short. "Samiak" Labiak on the hot station. Fisher, Francis and Schikey in the field. On the bench, ready for any emergency, Eddie Duggan, a really valuable man when head work counts to win the game.

The opening game of the two scheduled to take place will feature the B. & O. Athletics of Pittsburgh, a really first class independent team. Besides playing on the Baltimore and Ohio league. This bunch ties up with the local railroad outfit. Lohr will be the selection to pitch this game for the locals, while Clawson will catch. Sheets or Henson at first. H. Fisher at second. E. Fisher at short, and Duggan at third. The outer garden will be tended after by Francis, Konner, Barrett, G. Jones or Foye. No "dope" has been received regarding the visiting B. & O. tossers, but they are bound to have an exceptionally fast team, having the entire Pittsburgh district to draw upon.

The opening game will be played between the B. & O. teams and the game will start promptly at 5 o'clock. Immediately following the finish of the game the Greensburg and the local independents will take the field. There will be no delay and the games should be finished by 8 o'clock. One admission, the regular price, will be charged to witness both games and the indications point to a record attendance.

WEST PENN. LOSES.

Leisenring defeated the West Penn team last evening in an interesting game, 4-2. The score was tied at 2-2 until the sixth, when Leisenring squeezed a run across.

TROTTER TRIUMPHS OVER SMOCK

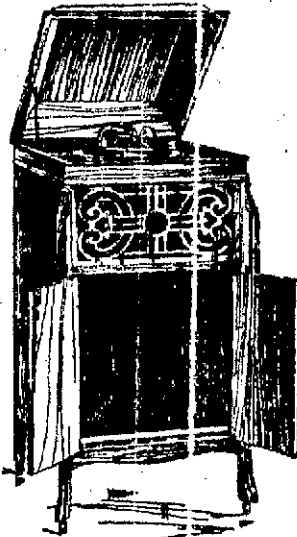

With a three-run lead up to the beginning of the eighth frame, the Trotter team seemed to be in place for a nice victory at the hands of the Smock team yesterday afternoon at Trotter. But the new local outfit took up Hillier for three runs in this frame and tied the score. Timeback relieved the tiring twister, but could not keep the Trotter boys from scoring another in the tenth. The final score was 5-4 in favor of Trotter.

THE SOMSON.

"PARTNERS OF THE NIGHT"—Featuring an all star cast, is today's leading attraction. The production bristles with live wire exploitation possibilities of which every showman should take the utmost advantage. Scott's name alone means the peak of literary ability to millions who have read his current fiction in the big magazines and his novels. As an excellent author's production it will instantly command the respect of all who demand the very finest in motion picture art. A host of "stunts" and lobby displays of a sane and forcible order have been suggested to attract the crowd. The newspaper advertising is forcible and clean-cut.

THE PARAMOUNT.

"JES CALL ME JIM."—The latest Goldwyn production, starring Will Rogers, in a splendid role, is being presented today.

The story is taken from J. G. Holland's book, "Seven Oaks." It is full of humor and pathos and dramatic situations. One evening Rogers found his wife carrying over the book "Goosh" if it's that good it ought to make a pretty picture," he said. Straightway he took the book off to the studio and the result is one of the best pictures in which he has appeared, "Jes Call Me Jim." Rogers plays the part of a happy-go-lucky trapper who rescues his best friend from the poor house and brings to justice the unscrupulous man who put him there.

Jimmy Rogers portraying a little boy, Paul Bonadici's son, is really the son of the famous star, Will Rogers. He supported his father in "The Strange Boarder" in which he created a juvenile role that will not be easily forgotten.

THE ARCADE.

Beginning Monday with special matinees, the management of the Arcade theatre has engaged a very high-class musical show in Fred Carmello's "A Modern Cinderella." Hailed as a merry musical melange with a dash and a dash it will surely win the approval of local theatregoers. "A Modern Cinderella" has a story that holds interest from start to finish, yet not too heavy to affect the speed that a musical show should have. Most musical shows are not usually long on plot, and "A Modern Cinderella" is no exception to the rule in that respect, but such plot as it possesses is an effective combination of situations that are highly entertaining, and the vaudeville specialties introduced throughout the offering are clever and classy.

The company consists of 13 people, headed by Walter Pruitt, a singing comedian with quite a reputation. "A Modern Cinderella" carries all special scenery and excellent wardrobe.

On the screen Monday and Tuesday will be seen "The Moonriders," a serial picture.

WORKS HARD TO AVERT FLU EPIDEMIC

Government and City Health Officials Warn People to Keep Clean.

Stay Away from People with Coughs and Colds.

"Avoid crowds if you want to avoid influenza," says Association for Improving the Conditions of New York.

Keep your hands clean, drink plenty of fresh water; sleep with windows open; eat three uniform meals a day including a good breakfast.

People who have catarrh or frequent colds, should declare a prominent Kentucky druggist.

The membrane of the throat and nose is raw, sore and tender, and makes a lovely abiding place for germs to thrive and multiply.

He advises an inexpensive home-made remedy that will bring relief in less than a day and will stop all discharge and soothe and heal the inflamed membrane in a few days.

Thousands are making this beneficial remedy at home and anyone who has catarrh or a cold can do the same.

Four three-quarters of an ounce of Mentholized Arecine into a pint bottle, then fill the bottle with water that has been boiled.

Gargle the throat as directed and sniff or spray the liquid into the nostrils twice daily. It's a simple way to get rid of cold and catarrh and keeps the nasal passage and throat clean and healthy.

Nearly all druggists dispense Mentholized Arecine in vials containing exactly three-quarters of an ounce, which is all you need to make a pint of this healthful medicine.

NO MATERIAL CHANGE RAILROAD SITUATION UNTIL WAGE AWARD

Efficiency and Indifference of Employees Cause Hindrances.

SERIES OF CONGESTIONS

First One Place Then Another, Keep the Railroads Tied-up; Result is Curtailed Movement With Blinding up in Price for Both Coal and Coke.

From The Weekly Courier.

The abiding indifference of railroad employees to the needs of industry, their dawdling inefficiency in their daily work, and their dilatory to their employers, more than all other factors combined, the direct and immediate cause of the more or less constantly recurring hindrances which the transportation industry is obliged to endure. They don't give a hoot for what was done at the Republican convention; have little interest in what may be done at San Francisco; but they are industriously engaged in speculating on what or how much the Railroad Board in session in Chicago will do for them on July 20.

This was the measure a keenly observant and well posted coke man applied to the situation yesterday when asked to express his views. He employed some adjectives that, for politeness sake are deleted, but their omission detracts nothing from the correctness of his observations, even though this may detract somewhat from his picturesque quality as an example of forceful English.

"Until the railroad men know how much of an advance in wages they are to receive, have really gotten back to the job of railroading instead of idling along as they do now, there will be no relief to the general transportation situation and incidentally no material betterment in movement of coal and coke. In the present mood and temper of railroad employees, all that can be expected, and all that has been happening, is that as soon as the congestion or blockade at one point is cleared, it develops at another. That relieved another starts somewhere else; and so on ad infinitum, ad nauseum."

The correctness of this observation, as it applies to the coke traffic, is illustrated by the present congestion at Buffalo which has followed upon the heels of that in the east, which resulted from the recurrence of railroad labor troubles in the latter section. To such an extent has the east been embargoed and tied up by the congestions in yards and terminals that there are vast accumulations of cars of coal and coke which have progressed toward destinations no greater distance than the nearest scales and, in some instances, only to the most convenient siding. In this condition of traffic movement consumers are the sufferers, only a small part of the loads in transit reaching their ultimate destination, which is the equivalent of a pronounced "tailor's" in supply at the first source. In their eagerness to escape the necessity of shutdowns attractive offers are made by consumers which in reality have but little effect other than to add still further to the yard and terminal congestions.

The persistence of buyers has pushed coke prices up to $17.50, or more if the buyer has reasonable assurance that a premium will secure the much needed fuel for him. The slump in coal prices that came last week upon the declaration of an embargo on export shipments was of short duration. The fact that coal was not getting through the transportation lanes caused a bidding-up spurt which yesterday reached $9.00 to $9.50.

With slightly better running time, the coke plants made a fair gain last week, just about recouping the loss of the week preceding. It is to be noted, however, that the fluctuation in production during both weeks was largely

PETEY—THE BOY IS CLEVER—BY C. A. VOIGHT

The MYSTERY of HARTLEY HOUSE

Clifford S. Raymond
Illustrated by Lewis Myers Copyright by George H. Doran Co.

CLIFFORD S. RAYMOND

Rain had been falling for five days when I first saw Hartley house. The place had so much local distinction that a village not far from the estate was named Hartley, for it.

Down when drizzled and dripping in a storm which had lasted for five days in late May, the spot was beautiful and charming; it had antiquity, that rare thing in a new land. Its two thousand acres, handsomely arranged for decorative and agricultural purposes, lay along the river bank, with an indented and interesting littoral where the river was two miles wide.

I had been on leave in St. Julian's hospital, and at the close of my last year Dr. Brownell had asked me if my arrangements would make it possible for me to undertake a case which he thought might be profitable and interesting to a young physician. It was that of Mr. Homer Sidney, the owner of Hartley house.

"I never saw so strange a will to live," said the doctor when he discussed the circumstances with me. "The old man is indomitable. For that reason he is interesting. He lives because he will to live, for some tremendous reason of which I know nothing. It is enormous. You may live to see him die; I am afraid I shall not—and he is seventy and I am fifty."

I decided to accept. It may have been professional weakness, but in addition to the financial certainty offered there was a professional interest aroused. If Dr. Brownell were attracted by a human being's will to live these certainly was something mysteriously interesting about that human being.

The position of Hartley as I first saw it remained as an enduring impression. The long downpour of rain had given the place a spiritual aspect. One felt as if the soul were saturated.

It is only occasionally in a normal mind that weather works a spiritual effect. I thought my mind was normal, but I felt the spiritual depression.

The way from the station for three miles was through ordinary American small farm land. Then it changed abruptly. Antiquity began to show. The driver said we were in the Hartley grounds.

I was so depressed by the rain, by my own anxiety, by thinking over the decision I had made and seemed about to regret, by the dismal prospects—or at least the uncertain prospects—that I should have been glad for any sustaining human association. At the end of my journey I soon found such association and was thereafter happy in it, by approaching the place I was approaching. My driver had been, if not unapproachable, at least stupid and dumb.

It somewhat astonished me when suddenly he began to talk. We were then about a half mile from the house.

"I wish you had some air horn carter," he said.

"Why?"

"To get a word," said the driver. "At least, he more than what, but I don't like to be in here alone, and I've got to go home alone."

In a fashion he expressed what might have been my mood if I had known more of the place. I could sympathize with him. The rain had done this for me.

"What have you to be afraid of?" I asked. "Is something lurking around here?" It seemed as if so beautiful a spot ought to have this interest. He stopped his horse.

"I'm going back out of here like a scared pig," he said. "That is, if the old house can stand it. But you're going to live here for a while, and I'll stop a minute to show you where they say the ghost walks."

He pointed to where the river had eaten a substantial bit out of the bank, making a pool or tiny bay. The road, appearing toward the river, was within thirty feet of it.

"It isn't natural for a man to kill his brother," said my driver, "and something monstrous comes of it. A man killed his brother there, I heard. Something monstrous had come of it. That's why you'll be just as well satisfied to get out of the house and yourself back out of here before dark."

"Get along, then," I said. "It looks like an ordinary place to me."

"No, no," said my driver. "And I don't want it over to look extra-ordinary."

"He was killed there?" I asked.

"You'll leave the story soon enough," said the driver. "If you're going to stay in this house, you'll leave it better than I can tell you."

At the great cozy entrance of the old house I paid the driver and let him go. He was anxious to be gone. It was growing dark. Then I began ringing the bell.

At the third ringing there was a response, in the form of a servant, a man, taller or shorter, past middle age. He was cross.

"What do you want?" he asked.

I explained that I was Dr. Michaelson and wanted to know that I was not wanted for. I did not like his manner and was not inclined to ignore it or to propitiate him by an arbitrarily one would. He had, at first sight, an extraordinary power of exasperation. At the time I did not understand my weakness, but afterward I did. The man was cross as an irritant.

There was no appearance at Hartley house was so unfortunate that if the servant's countenance and my recentment had had another manner, the door would have been slammed in my face and I should have been walking back to Hartley station. At that instant moment in my fortunes, a woman's voice intervened.

As chief editorial writer of the Chicago Tribune many thousands of people have read "Cliff" Raymond who do not know his name. To thousands of others he is known for his writings on astronomy, mathematics and some other sciences. Many thousands of others know him for some exceptionally brilliant short stories which have appeared in the magazines. The few novels he has written are best exemplified in "The Mystery of Hartley House," a remarkable story totally different from anything you have ever read.

"Jed," it said, "who's there?"

The servant opened the door wider, and I saw a lady, a South American, I thought.

"I am Dr. Michaelson," I said.

"Yes, doctor," she replied. "We have been expecting you. I am Mrs. Sidney. Where is your baggage?"

"I have only a handbag with me here," I said.

"Come in," she said. "Jed will take it."

He did, but made me see the ill nature of his reception of me and of his duty. He had also, at the direction of Mrs. Sidney, to show me to my quarters.

"Jed," I said, in my room, "we have not made the best start for two people who may have to live together for some time."

I offered him a dollar as a peace offering.

"Are you going to stay here?" he asked.

"I am supposed to," I said.

"A dollar won't make you welcome,"

"A Dollar Won't Make You Welcome."

He said, and left me looking at the coin in my hand.

I was called to dinner and had it alone in a large dining room. When I had finished a maid told me that Mr. Sidney would be glad to see me if it were convenient for me—that he did not need me professionally, but that socially he would be delighted if I could come to him.

He was sitting in a large arm chair in a great room with a great fireplace. Later I perceived the fascinating details of the room, but just then Mr. Sidney had all my attention.

Dr. Brownell had told me of the remarkable will to live which I should

And, it was instantly apparent. The old man was wonderfully alive. He was abrupt but smilingly and charmingly courteous. We talked for a quarter of an hour, casually. Then he said:

"I know you are tired, doctor."

"Not at all," I replied, interested to see more of him if I might.

My room was on the second floor, and I was looking out of the window, that it would not be impossible to make a descent on the outside in an emergency, I decided not to begin my stay with a protest against any habits of the house or occurrences in it. In the night I was awakened out of a sound sleep with an idea that I had been disturbed by noises, but nothing I could hear sustained it, and I went to sleep again. I was up early, dressed and found that my door had been unlocked. I
